

SUPERNATURE DESIGN.

Confidentiality & Intellectual Property Agreement.

Parties

This Agreement is entered into between Supernature Design (the "Client") and the individual or business engaged to undertake website design, development or related services (the "Contractor"). It applies to all work undertaken in connection with the design, development, delivery and operation of the Supernature Design website.

Confidential Information

The Contractor acknowledges that, during this project, they may receive confidential information including branding, logos, typography, colour palettes, graphics, website concepts, business information, marketing strategies, photographs, written content, supplier information, passwords, access credentials and other proprietary material belonging to the Client. The Contractor agrees to keep all such information strictly confidential, use it only for this project and not disclose it to any third party without the Client's prior written consent.

Intellectual Property

All logos, branding, typography, graphics, artwork, photographs, website content, concepts, design systems, layouts and materials supplied by the Client remain the sole and exclusive property of Supernature Design. The Contractor is granted a limited licence to use these materials only for the purpose of completing this project. The Contractor must not copy, reproduce, modify, sell, distribute, publish or create derivative works from the Client's intellectual property except as expressly required for the project and approved by the Client.

Project Files

Upon completion of the project, or earlier if requested by the Client, the Contractor will provide all website source files, design files, code repositories, administrator access, passwords, logins, hosting access, domain-related access where applicable, licences, plug-ins and related project assets reasonably required for the Client to fully control, operate, maintain and transfer the website.

Ownership of Deliverables

Upon full payment of all agreed project fees, all website code, layouts, graphics, custom designs, custom functionality, written content and other deliverables created specifically for this project become the exclusive property of Supernature Design. The Contractor must not withhold files, credentials or access once payment has been made in accordance with the agreed scope.

Portfolio Use

The Contractor may not publish, display, share or reference the Client's branding, website, project files, layouts, designs, screenshots or associated work in any portfolio, website, social media account, advertising, tender response, case study or promotional material without the Client's prior written approval.

Return of Information

Upon completion of the engagement, or upon written request by the Client, the Contractor agrees to return or permanently delete all confidential files, documents, passwords, credentials and materials supplied by the Client, retaining no copies except where required by law.

Non-Subcontracting

The Contractor must not subcontract, outsource or transfer any part of this project, or provide access to the Client's confidential information or project files to any other individual or business, without the Client's prior written consent.

Governing Principle

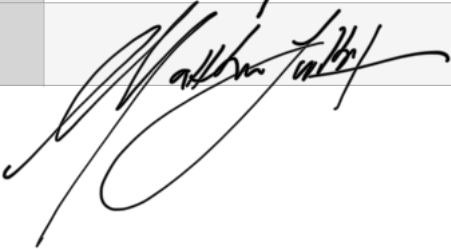

The Contractor acknowledges that all intellectual property associated with the Supernature Design brand remains the exclusive property of the Client before, during and after completion of this project. Any unauthorised use, reproduction, publication or distribution is strictly prohibited.

Continuing Obligations

The obligations in this Agreement continue after the completion, cancellation or termination of the project. The Contractor remains responsible for protecting the Client's confidential information and intellectual property after the engagement has ended.

Acceptance

By signing below, both parties acknowledge that they have read, understood and agree to the terms of this Confidentiality & Intellectual Property Agreement.

	Client	Web Designer
Name:	Matthew Talbot.
Date:	12 July 2026
Signature:

2

thank you.